1. Leading functionaries (Kreis secretaries and higher) of the SED are not allowed to have relatives in Western countries. In the central Kreis Directorates there are no department chiefs with relatives in West Germany. It is expected that instructors, who have relatives in West Germany will break off all connections with them. Nevertheless, these regulations are enforced very loosely concerning these subordinate functionaries. Any functionary who spent more than one year in Western prison camps is not allowed to attend the higher Party schools. There exists however the unusual case of a Party Secretary in the VEB Sikura, who is known to have been in a Yugoslavian prison. He came to this enterprise as Party Secretary after the Burianek affair and is also an elected member of the Kreis Directorate of Berlin-Mitte.

2. Central or Special schools (Zentral- oder Sonderschulen) have been established in Leipzig and in Mittweida. In Leipzig a Party school in Leipzig a five-months course for functionaries in economic positions, especially for specialists in the field of commerce, was given. In Mittweida, a special course was given for Party Secretaries in the commercial apparatus.

Persons with no party affiliations may be included if their entry is approved by the Party leaders (Parteileitung) of the enterprise. 4. Kampfgruppen are to be organized in all of the administrative offices (Verwaltungsdienststellen). However, in the offices of the Party apparatus no Kampfgruppen are to be established. The chief functionaries of the SED receive their training through the GBT and will allegedly take over the leadership of the individual Kampfgruppen in an emergency.
5. The smallest unit in the Kampfgruppen is the Kampfgruppen-Trupp, which consists of twelve persons, plus a troop leader (Truppfuehrer). Attached to a group of several trups are an economic troop (Wirtschaftstrupp) responsible for rationing (Verbrauchsrichtern), a medical corpsman (Sanitaeter), an arm[redacted]
